Dréa Becker

Junior Counsel - Under 15 Years

CALLED 2012

"A dedicated defender whom clients adore. She is a name to watch."

CHAMBERS UK, 2023

Dréa defends in serious and complex cases. She is experienced in handling cases across the spectrum of criminal offences including serious violence, drugs, robbery, fraud and sexual offences. When defending, she is often instructed to represent young and vulnerable defendants.

Dréa was previously instructed by a leading international law firm on a bribery and fraud investigation, and also previously instructed by an offshore firm in a confidential financial services regulatory investigation. This involved a detailed understanding and application of the anti-money laundering and counter terrorist-financing regulatory framework.

Background and Expertise

Before coming to the Bar, Dréa had a career working in humanitarian aid and human rights. She has extensive practical experience and knowledge of the Middle East, specifically Lebanon, Palestine, and Israel. She has experience living in the refugee camps in Lebanon, where she worked as country director for a non-governmental organisation between 1998 – 2001. Following her work in Lebanon, Dréa worked with Oxfam between 2001 – 2003 and lived in the occupied Palestinian territory at the height of the re-invasion of the West Bank, managing refugee-related programming in the West Bank and Gaza Strip. Between 2004 – 2005, she managed Christian Aid's programme in Israel and Palestine. Between 2007 – 2011, Dréa was the Director of Advocacy at Medical Aid for Palestinians, leading the organisation's advocacy, policy and media work in Europe and the Middle East.

Dréa was a lecturer on the LL.M in International Criminal and Human Rights Law at London South Bank University between 2013-2017. She taught the masters' level module on the Law of Armed Conflict, an international law course focusing on the conduct of hostilities, means and methods of warfare, the legality of weapons, and the law of occupation.

Dréa was awarded the Lord Mansfield Scholarship in 2011 by Lincoln's Inn, the top grant awarded to prospective barristers. She is a Commonwealth Scholar.

Notable Cases

Financial Crime

R v Layne Perry, 2023

The defendant committed a series of 'long game' confidence frauds against three older individuals (with several others under investigation across several forces in England and Wales), befriending them, impressing them with his wealth (properties, horses, gambling winnings), before "assisting" them with their finances, thereby taking over and ruining their financial lives. Complex and voluminous financial documentation.

Client found not guilty of possession of a firearm with intent to endanger life. Gangs unit stop of vehicle with five occupants, loaded firearm found in backseat. Instructed by McQueens Solicitors.

Kingston Crown Court

R v SLM and Others, 2023

At the funeral for Lemar Urquhart, a high profile drill artist and gang member who was shot dead in October 2022, firearms police carried out targeted arrests, including forced stop of a Mercedes G-Wagon. A loaded firearm was found in the backseat. The Crown's case is that those in the G-Wagon were patrolling for rival gang members to avenge the death of Mr Urquhart. Following a five week trial, Ms Becker's client was acquitted; the driver and two others were convicted of s.16 Possession of a Firearm with intent to endanger life, and possession of ammunition.

Kingston Crown Court

Firearms
